SUFFER LOSS AT FRISCO.

Mr. J. E. Keith, of this city, is in receipt of a letter from San Francisco, a relative of his, and night editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Mr. Keith was formerly of Meade county. His father with his family moved to California many years ago and is a prominent business man of San Francisco. Mr. Keith said in the letter that the work family was safe but had sustained by the loss of their home, office and their contents. Willis, a brother of Mr. Keith, lost many thousands of dollars worth of architectural work in his office and a beautiful new home in San Francisco.

Not as Rich as Rockefeller. If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for sore complaints than Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physician can not prescribe a better preparation for colds and diarrhoea, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to others. It never fails, and when mixed with water and sweetened, is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it. Sold by Short & Hayes.

Mrs. Joe D. Sabbage and daughter, Miss Louise and Mildred, have returned from a visit to relatives in Louisville.

Judge Henry Moorman was in town from Hardinsburg Sunday.

HONOR FOR C. B. SKILLMAN.

Mr. Skillman has appointed Judge Henry DeHaven Moorman, vice commissioner. "Miss Ruth Haynes has been selected maid of honor. She is one of Cloverport's most cultured girls and will do her duties with ease and gracefulness. The hostess has not yet been selected.

Mr. Skillman is one of the county's most popular men and will make Breckenridge a very big representative at the event. He has a congenial manner about him that is to be admired and which will lead much to his success as Breckenridge's representative at Louisville in June.

JOE FALLON PROMOTED.

Joe Fallon, the local telegraph operator for the Henderson Route, has been promoted and given a place as station agent at Maloria, a new station on the Extension, 15 miles from Louisville. Mr. Fallon took charge the first of May. He has moved his family there. Mr. Fallon entered the service of the Henderson Route as an office boy at the local depot. Here he learned telegraphy and was rapidly promoted, having held several responsible positions before accepting the position at this place. He is a young man of merit and hard worker. He is very popular here, this being his home town. His services at the local depot, though covering but a few months, have lessened the patrons of the route. Joe always showing the nicest courtesies even in rush hours.

The vacancy created by Fallon will be filled by Mr. Vivian Pierce of this city, now in the service of the company at Louisville in the General Office. Young Pierce, while not out of his teens has proven himself a good employee at the local depot. Wherever Henderson Route has gone, he and the acceptance of the position and vacant by Mr. Fallon means a promotion for Mr. Pierce over any place he has yet held with the Henderson Route. Pierce also acted as the telegraph operator at the local depot.

Hortense Beben who is the Agent at this place and under whom Mr. Pierce will work is another of Cloverport's self-made young men. Beben starting in as office boy here, learning telegraphy and earning his way, he has made his way up to the position of agent. Mr. Beben filled the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Fred Ferry a few months ago. The success of the boys who started out as office boys at the local depot is a credit to Mr. Ferry reflects credit upon him as being a man who knows.

From Mr. Paul. The news is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. Paul, of Clinton Mo., who was formerly of Breckenridge and is a son of Mr. J. E. Paul of Louisville. The news is glad to learn through an exchange sent that Mr. Paul is doing well in Clinton, having been elected a councilman. He is doing a good business there and faring well, all of which he deserves.

Clinton, Mo., April 26, Mr. Joe D. Sabbage, Editor News--I see from the News that Selby McCracken is a councilman in your town. I knew Selby when he was a small boy and am glad to see him doing so well. I am pleased to the well-doing of Breckenridge country people. I am sorry to learn of Golden Rod's death. She was my teacher when I was a very small boy.

Mrs. J. L. Long, Miss Nellie Park and Miss Amanda Long, of Addison, were in the city Saturday.

Mrs. Fannie Hemmister, of Litchfield, Mr. J. E. Keith of this city, and Mr. George Keith, of Evansville, died with their sister, Mrs. Jennie Cain, at Brandenburg Sunday April 21, this being the first time the family has broken bread together in thirty years. The brothers and sisters with the exception of Mr. J. E. Keith visited the old homestead at Garrettsville, Meade county before they returned to their respective homes.

KINGSWOOD COLLEGE.

Harned, Ky., May 1 1906--I want to say to my friends many of whom have written me in the last few weeks concerning my future work. I have been constantly occupied since my arrival here about the middle of Jan. I have cleared a considerable amount of land, more than a thousand sawlogs out. have done a considerable amount of farming, have one hundred and eighty acres of land for corn most of it broken; thirty five acres in oats; one hundred acres in wheat and am planning for a large garden, under the blessings of God I hope to raise enough to feed my school and some to spare. I have a large force at work, some sawing lumber, some setting out stone, and I will begin my buildings at once. I have a great deal of work ahead of me, but by the help of God I expect to be ready for our commencing Aug. 1st and open school the last day of camp meeting, with a strong faculty as I ever had, consisting of fourteen teachers and officers. Through the kindly providence of God I have secured most of my teachers, still have three vacancies, which I hope to fill in a short time. Those who have known of my school work in the past may be assured it will be as strong, on educational and religious lines, as it has ever been. Our plan in the future will be designated as follows: "Kingswood College" on "Kingswood" (prospective town). We expect to have good comfortable buildings completed by the opening of school, you will see cuts in them in my prospective catalog.

Fifty contracts of 941 acres, 150 acres of land, joining the college farm, has been purchased by another gentleman and myself for the site of our new town. It is now being surveyed and laid out in lots which will be sold at reasonable prices. Quite a number of applications for lots have been received. No teacher many who want to educate in a full salvation school, will want a lot in our new town. Building material is very reasonable. This is a good farming country, land can be bought at very low rates, giving a splendid opportunity to those who want to see this section of country is greatly interested in our enterprise and assure me a good patronage for our opening. While I have made but one notice in the papers I have received many letters from prospective pupils, and the outlook for this section of country is excellent. Do not hesitate to say that my fifteen years of work will enable me to begin, at once, where I left off, and any young man or woman who comes to me will get as good training as they ever got in my former school, which many know compared favorably with other similar class colleges. My citizens and catalog will be out soon, write for them for general information. The following courses of study will be taught: Classical, Scientific, Theological, Music, and Business.

I do not know I state the truth when I say I am happy in my work, and feel more sure than ever that God led me here, and He is opening up the work on all lines, for which we are profoundly grateful. We covet an interest in the prayers of our friends.

Yours in Him
J. W. Hughes.

Sciatica Cured After Twenty Years of Torture. For more than twenty years Mr. F. B. Massey, of 3928 Clinton St. Minneapolis, Minn., was tormented by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 35 cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. For sale by Short & Hayes.

Miss Lillian Wine has been assisting Miss Lillian Sippel in her store for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Scott and children of Harned have moved here and are occupying the residence on the Hill vacated by the Board family.

DRAWN TO DEATH.

One of the most horrible deaths that has occurred in this county for many years was that of little 16-year-old Bonnet Ellis, nephew of Wm. Cunningham, of Stephansport, on last Thursday about 3 p. m. Young Ellis was out in the field about a half-mile from the barn and when evening came it is supposed he was releasing the horse from the plow and while doing this was caught in the traces and could not free himself. The horse became frightened and ran, dragging the boy a half-mile over the rough field to the barn, thus killing him. His twelve-year-old sister, who was with the horse, which is not far from the barn, saw the horse coming and started to the barn to open the door for them, thinking that her brother had turned the horses loose. As the horse drew near she saw the tattered, bruised body of her brother hanging to the traces about the animal. The boy's face was cut up badly and his nose split open. His neck, right arm and right leg were broken. One foot was tied up in the trace and by this he was dragged to the barn. The boy was a bright young lad and well liked. Both he and his sister were orphans.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS.

Hardinsburg, Ky., May 2--The M. E. church, Sunday School adopted the following resolutions. Sunday, in regard to the death of Mr. A. B. Bower, Whereas, our Heavenly Father, in his divine wisdom, has called from this life to the home of the Blessed, Mr. A. B. Bower, our fellow worker in Church and Sunday school, who has long labored faithfully and well, and whose work has resulted in much and lasting good to the church, the school and the community. Therefore, Be it Resolved, That we, as a Sunday School, express our great and sincere sorrow and grief at her death, which has removed from our midst, a faithful church worker, a conscientious and well-qualified teacher in the school and a true and consistent christian, who witnessed by the beautiful life in all its various relations, that she closely followed the teachings of the great Redeemer.

And That we tender to the aged mother, the children and other relatives of the deceased, our sincere and heart felt sympathy and condolences in their great loss and bereavement. And That these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Sunday School and that the Secretary present a copy to the family, and that the two copy papers be requested to publish them.

NEED MONEY AT FRISCO.

San Francisco, April 30--The number of people without substantial shelter has been reduced to a minimum. The housing committee reported that its work had almost been completed, the applications for accommodations having ceased. Probably the most significant instance of the determination of the officials to bring about a restoration of the old order of things, and of the disposition of the people to speedily forget the recent disaster, was the resumption of the Sunday afternoon concerts in Golden Gate park. These concerts have been reduced to a "Sunday feature" in San Francisco, and in addition to the excellent program given in the big park, a volunteer band disported music for a second in the "rented city" in Jefferson Square.

There was some extension in the electric car service and workmen in the remote suburbs will be afforded transportation to the water front and points in the burned district, where they may be obliged to labor. The city officials were highly elated upon finding the contents of the municipal treasury intact. The vaults were located in a section of the city hall that escaped the fire, and when an expert opened the doors he found gold, silver and certificates scattered over the floor, but there was nothing missing. The vault contained $5,000,000 in coin and currency, $300,000 in securities of the German Savings bank and $12,000,000 of unpaid city bonds.

Shipping is beginning to resume its normal course. There were a number of departures of steamers and several arrivals. Plans for solving the tremendous financial problems that confront the city began today to assume tangible form. At a meeting at which were present James D. Phelan, chairman of the finance committee, and some noted lawyers and bankers, a plan was it is hoped, will meet with the endorsement of the general committee. It being estimated that the city has suffered a loss of at least $200,000,000 by fire, it is considered that there is not sufficient money in San Francisco to reconstruct the city and that the people here must look elsewhere for funds to rehabilitate their destroyed fortunes. Mr. Phelan claimed that if this money is borrowed through ordinary channels the rate of interest will add a burden to necessarily increased taxation that will be too heavy to bear. The plan of Mr. Phelan is to frame legislation to present to congress asking the United States to endorse the proposed bonds of San Francisco. Work on the great Fairmont hotel has commenced. A thorough inspection showed that only the woodwork of that building was destroyed and the building was in good shape. The building would have been finished by Nov. 1, and the opening, it is expected, will not be delayed more than three months after the date originally set. The effects of smoke and flame on the outside walls are being removed and

SUCCESSFUL PRODUCTION.

"The Moonshiner's Daughter" a tragic comedy drama was played in Olee's hall last Thursday evening by the Clover Dramatic Club of the local A. O. U. W. lodge. The play was successfully played by the local talent who were the recipients of many congratulations. The cast was made up of W. R. Wilson, William McCracken, Emmet Mattingly, Thomas Wins, Jess Bonier and Misses Nina Wilkerson, Josie Berry and Esther Jackson. The three young ladies looked beautiful behind the foot lights and did their parts up all right. The young men, in the two first acts, set themselves off to a fine advantage in their Moonshiner's costumes and in the third act, being dressed as rich New Yorkers, looked very swell.

There were no apparent bad breaks in the entire production. Each character was familiar with his lines and said them with ease.

Music was rendered by local talent, Lillian Smith, violin, Tom Morrison, guitar and Edward Harris, bass violin. Young Smith is as good an artist with the violin as he is with the brush.

Gross receipts were $80.

In a few days the building will show few outward signs of the fire. Colonel Frank Maus of the Twenty-third United States Infantry who has charge of the Third military district of the city, with headquarters at Portsmouth square, is authority for the statement that looking has commenced in the city and in the ruins of pavements along Kearney street.

The area destroyed in San Francisco approximately 10,000 acres, or about fifteen square miles and there are few cities in the country where so much valuable property is contained in an equal territory. Within this fifteen square miles were nearly 100 banks, some of the finest buildings in the world, thousands of mercantile and manufacturing establishments and more than 250,000 inhabitants. Besides 40,000 transients. The aggregate number of dead probably will not exceed 700 and will certainly not exceed 1,000. Notwithstanding the enormous and widespread disaster, the homes of 150,000 people are still standing. There still remain the great ship yards, Pacific Mail docks, the stock yards at South San Francisco, and the largest buildings in the world along the water front from Mission Creek to Hunter's Point, the mint, the postoffice and the retail district on Fillmore and Market streets.

Coroner William Walsh estimated that the total number of dead will not be less than 1,000. His estimate is made up from all the data he has been able to collect. General Greely officially lists the number of dead in San Francisco to 277.

Federal Troops Paid People. San Francisco, April 28--The United States army now has full charge of the gigantic task of leasing food. This resulted from a meeting of the executive committee. With this most important duty delegated to the army, the district commander, General Greely, turned their attention to the resumption of business. The municipal government has established a scale of prices for important commodities, from clothing to food. The university that existing under normal conditions. Warning was given dealers that any effort to charge exorbitant prices would result in action by the authorities. Streetcars are promised for today and electric lights will be turned on in the evening in front of every house there is a small improvised furnace or cookstove whereon the food is prepared.

Why Stanford University Fell. Palo Alto, Calif., April 28--No attempt is being made to begin the work of repair and reconstruction necessary to restore the Stanford University buildings torn down by the earthquake. Cheap workmanship and defective construction are attributed as the sole causes for the absolute overthrow of the larger university buildings. The work of rebuilding the town of Palo Alto is well under way. Many university students are stranded without means to get home. The university has no ready money and can not advance it for transportation, but the railroad company is attempting to relieve the situation. Despite their own hard condition the students are helping greatly toward the San Francisco relief work.

Eppworth League Day will be observed at the M. E. church next Sunday night by the local chapter. The church service will be given away to the event and a special program will be carried out. All are invited.

Mrs. L. D. Bishop and baby have been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bishop.

French Marriage Restrictions.

It sounds almost incredible, but is none the less a fact, that a Frenchman under twenty-five years of age whose parents are dead and whose grandfather or grandmother is alive cannot enter the married state without the written authority of both or either of them.—Paris Letter to London Post.

THE SALOON B.A.R.

A bar to manliness and wealth;
A door to want and broken health;
A bar to honor, pride and fame,
A door to sin and grief and shame;
A bar to hope, a bar to prayer,
A door to darkness and despair.—Farm Journal.

Whenever you hit the machine the Organ begins to grind.

Don't record your vote for whiskey. It will haunt you the balance of your days.

The question to determine the actions of every man who is a man, is not whether a thing will be profitable, but whether it is right or wrong.

The right thing to do next Saturday is to cast your ballot against whiskey. Doing the right thing make men of us all. Doing the wrong thing make cowards of us all.

It would be an awful calamity to vote whiskey back into this town.
It would be as great a calamity as our fire in 1901. Men can recover from a fire but never from the effects of whiskey.

All eyes are turned on Cloverport in the Local Option fight. If the town votes the saloon back it will lower it in the estimation of all right thinking people. Can she afford to go backward.

"There is as much meanness and hurt in the world through the good man's weakness as there is by the bad man's wickedness. Be loyal to your convictions at any cost."—Bishop Woodcock.

The News is indebted to Conductor J. J. Tilford, of Fordsville, for late New Orleans papers containing accounts of the Confederate Reunion held in that city last week. Mr. Tilford and his daughter, Miss Flora, were in attendance and report a pleasant trip.

"This business man who is neutral on the subject of local option may think he is riding to success on the stead of business prudence, but the truth of his career is he is riding on a pusillanimous colt of commercial fear, and in stead of being guided by an angel of light he is meandering across the plain of life to the pity of despair on the back of a spineless donkey."

MR. CHAS. MAY is the right sort of a man to have in a town. Walk down his way and behold his beautiful yard, the flower beds, the well mown lawn and perfectly trimmed trees. A home beautiful is his.
What a beautiful, smiling, pleasant town this would be if we had more yards like Charlie May's, more men with the glad hand of fellowship and good word like that hand of his.

MOTHERS may talk, work, struggle, to make their sons models by which to shape a new heaven and a new earth. But the boy's world is in the man who is his father, and the boy believes that, whatever may be right on Sundays or at prayer time, the things that are really good, that really count in life, are what father does. Moreover it is what father does which defines the means with which the boy shall work, the sphere wherein his efforts shall be shaped. In a word, what father does is the beginning as it is the end of the boy's achievements.
—Harper's Bazar.

This is true as holy writ. What father does next Saturday will largely influence the boy. Can any father afford to vote for the saloons.

The mothers, wives and daughters of this town are pleading, working and praying that the saloon may not come back into this town.
Oh! ye men, can you resist their prayers and go right into the booth and cast your vote in opposition to their wishes. Better think about this: "One hundred thousand drunkards die annually in this country.
The saloon must get two million boys from each generation for raw material. Those boys? Yours or mine. Our boys, or our neighbor's?
Have you contributed a boy? If not, some other family has had to give more than it's share. Are you willing that the saloon should have your boy? No, no, ten thousand times NO; then is it fair to vote to keep the saloon open to destroy our neighbor's boy?"

It is no longer the thing to drink. To go into the presence of a business man or into the presence of your employer with the fumes of liquor on your breath lowers you in their estimation. The dangers of even moderate indulgence in the use of liquor make it extremely hard for a man to get employment on our railroads and with large corporations. Most of them demand practical abstinence from drink and a very large number of the wage earners in America by the terms of their contracts with their employers are bound to abstain from intoxicants, keep out of saloons and lead lives of temperance and sobriety.
Railroads especially realize the danger involved in committing important tasks to men with fuddled minds. No drinking man is as valuable to his employer as the sober non-drinking man. When the time comes to lay off a portion of the working force the total abstainer is not the first to go. The spectacle of a drunken working man is one rarely presented in any community these days. Do you want to vote to put the open saloon here to tempt our workmen and our boys and keep them out of good jobs and paying employment? We think not, we hope not. Cast your vote for Local Option.

From Jessie Hatfield,
Guanatanso Bay, Cuba, April 19,
Editor Breckenridge News. Dear Sir—
I will endeavor to write my old friends of Breckenridge county a letter through your bright and interesting paper if you will kindly publish it and let them know that I have not forgotten them in the four years I have been absent. I enlisted in the U. S.
navy on Feb 1 1904, at Louisville, Ky., and was sent to Norfolk Training station. After serving four months there I was rated ordinary Seaman and was set to the U. S. Battleship Missouri then at Newport News, Va., on June 8 04. The Missouri is one of the best battle ships in our Navy and I will send you a photograph of her.
On June 1904 we sailed for Europe for a three month's cruise. The first port we visited was Gibraltar, Spain and one of the most enterprising cities over there. The city itself is built on the side of the rock and is a very fine view. We were there five days. We

MISS HELEN CANNON.

One of the First Ladies of Official Society at National Capital.

She Often Graciously Presides at War Councils of the Nation's Chiefs.—Democratic in Manner and a Famous Housekeeper.

The distinction of being the best-posted woman in America on politics and statecraft, is generally accorded to Miss Helen Cannon, daughter of the Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives. Speaker Cannon who is genial and democratic in manner, is a man of many close friendships, but no one is so close to him as his only unmarried daughter who has presided over his household since the death of his wife, many years ago.

Miss Cannon emphatically disapproves the theory that a woman cannot keep a secret. As the confidante of the official, who, next to the President, is the most powerful man in the United States, she probably knows more of what is going on "behind the scenes"

When Congress is not in session, Miss Cannon is mistress of her father's home at Danville, Illinois. There, as in Washington, she is always prepared for company, for the Speaker's married daughter with her children, spends much time at the Cannon home, and relatives and friends always find free to "drop in" at almost any time.

Official Feminine Calls.

In the social life of the national capital, Miss Cannon occupies, by virtue of her father's position, a unique position. Possibly not all our readers are aware of the many unwritten laws that govern the exchange of calls between women whose husbands or fathers occupy prominent positions at Washington. For instance, official etiquette prescribes that the wife of a newly elected Senator or Representative must make the first call upon the wives of all those Congressmen who are her husband's seniors in service. Miss Cannon, however, in accordance with these same unwritten laws, is not compelled to make a "first call" upon any ladies in Washington, save the wife of the Vice President. All this fuss as to who shall call first may appear ridiculous to persons who are not brought in contact with life at our seat of government, and possibly Miss Cannon who is thoroughly democratic may re-

ICEBERG IN DELAWARE.

Huge Mountain of Ice Towed From Grand Banks of Newfoundland.

The Strenuous Work of a Tug's Crew—One of the Strangest and Perhaps the Most Valuable Prize Ever Taken by a Ship.

In order that the city of Philadelphia might be rescued from an ice famine, a powerful ocean-going tug has accomplished the almost impossible feat of capturing a huge iceberg, and towing it into port. Never in the world's history has this wonderful achievement been duplicated, and contrasted with it the fascinating exploits recounted by the marine historian Sinbad, the sailor, appear commonplace and trivial.

With its mountain of ice in tow, the tug passed up the Delaware River meeting consternation among the floating world on the stream, as observers could not imagine other than that the floating mountain was being driven up the bay by some freak of wind and current, to the great danger of shipping. Its approach was responsible for some frenzied telegraphing, which threw the shipping interests into a panic. Orders were issued to hold up the sailing of every vessel due to New York, and messengers were dispatched to lower Delaware stations to intercept several out-bound steamers and warn them to seek anchorage out of the berg's path.

Maritime Interests Excited.

For several hours maritime interests were intensely excited by the unheeded presence of an iceberg in the bay. Later, when the true story of the wonderful feat was flashed over the wire, it seemed so utterly incredible that the excitement, if anything, was increased. It was not until one of the fastest tugs in the harbor had steamed down the bay and wired verification of the story that the panic was allayed. Only the providential co-operation of the winds and tides, and the most favorable weather conditions enabled the tug to accomplish the feat. In spite of the almost insuperable difficulties attendant upon the berg's capture, not a member of the tug's crew was injured.

Two Men Frost-Bitten.

Two men suffered from bad frost-bites, but this was due to their carelessness in braving the arctic temperature in the berg's vicinity without proper clothing. Their experience was a warning to the rest of the crew, and when the tug with the prize passed the breakwater every man aboard was muffled as if for a heavy snow storm.

The length of the iceberg was 500 feet, and it is estimated that it will yield fifty,000,000 tons, which is nearly sufficient to make up the shortage in ice crop due to the mill which was the cause of cutting up the mountain of ice will have to be pushed because of the rapidly with which it will melt under the spring sunshine.

The monster berg was captured off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. It was made fast at great risk by the daring men on the tug, who in small boats tied anchor ropes and snags to the mountain of ice, and then let out a long tow-line from the tug and, with grappling hooks, secured a tow which held firm after several attempts had resulted in failure. The crew of the tug will share the money the prize will yield. As icebergs are broken up of portions of glaciers, the ice yielded will be of good quality.

School Garden Education.

Every child likes to play in the mud and dirt, to make sand houses and caves, mud pies, and even to plant a garden, breaking off the twigs of trees and pulling weeds, which are carefully planted and watered, furnishing diversion and pleasure for the day. It is an easy matter to direct the youthful mind a little further along this line and interest it in a real miniature garden. It is not an unfounded theory, but a fact, abundantly proven in the large and many of our small cities. Philadelphia has what are called "Municipal Gardens." Boston has a dozen "School Gardens." Chicago, Detroit, Washington, Cleveland, Los Angeles, and other cities have successfully worked out either the school garden or the vacant lot cultivation idea, two separate methods, but both of them, it is true, but closely allied.

The school garden idea opens up an easy and accessible avenue to the child, and more of a diversion than a task to the young. New York has only one such farm garden, but on its own premises, the children plant and raise both flowers and vegetables, while in an extemporized cook-house they prepare the vegetables for the table and enjoy the flavor of the fruits of their labor. Besides this instruction in the culinary art, a bedroom in miniature furnishes the children with a chance to learn how to care for rooms. In Philadelphia the relation of the municipal gardens and the schools is intimate, but to see this idea worked out, perhaps in its best manner, is to go to Boston. There, a private organization known as the School Garden Association, for six years or more, has been developing an idea, whereby the children delight to plant and cultivate, furnishing object lessons of the utility of the work which it is hoped may lead to its addition to the school curriculum, and with this idea in mind, these school gardens are located quite generally on land adjacent to schoolhouses, some of the regular school grounds, and some of the vacant lots. The effect upon the little workers in these plots is in every way happy and should lead to their more general use.

MADE FORTUNE IN WORMS.

Maine Florist Returns to Sweden After Breeding Insect.

By far the most popular bait for all kinds of fishing in Maine are living earthworms, which have the odor of the ground about them and which seem to be choice tidbits, not only to trout and landlocked salmon, but also for pickerel, perch, black bass, and, indeed, every species of food fish that swims in fresh water. As the Maine fish is deficient in humus and lacking in decaying vegetable matter, anglers are not plentiful. A few years ago Carl Berge, a florist of Bangor, went into the business of rearing earthworms for the purpose of selling them to the local fishermen, as well as for shipment to Boston. He imported a breed of dark purple worms from Belgium, which were prolific breeders, though coarse and strong flavored, and later he secured a box of giant angworms from India. In the course of a few years he was able to supply live worms by the million to his customers.

Those shipped to Boston were sold in job lots of 75 cents a pound. To the home customers he sold worms of average size for 10 cents a dozen. When the worms grew huge and small ones, and though his trade in flowers was never extensive, he made money by the sale of worms, until last year, when he retired and went to his old home in Sweden, a wealthy man.

Sidney Cook, of Presque Isle, the inventor of several diving appliances used by men who in deep water, was the next man to attract attention as a public benefactor in the line. Mr. Cook says his invention was made possible through having watched the Indians of Canada, when they sought worms for bait. All earthworms come to the surface at night, said he, "and feed on the grasses and rotting leaves near the surface of the ground. When the worms were busy eating, the Indians of Canada had a habit of dragging a blanket with sticks and stones, and with bird lime along the surface of the land, thus picking up the worms. I have been puzzled over much for my invention, it is not mine by right, as I gained the idea from Indians."

Already the Secretary Around the Falls is Mailed to Power Plants.

The American Falls Threatened by the Water Diversion.

The beauty of Niagara Falls little can be accomplished, and from past experience it seems more than doubtful that the water rights granted there, and there is no reason to assume that the attitude has changed in the least, but it would seem probable that the water rights of the United States and the mother country to defeat any friendly agreement that might be proposed.

This conclusion of Canada's probable attitude is not reached entirely on account of an unfriendly feeling, but because of two very important facts. One of these is the greater width and depth of the channel on the Canadian side, which would insure a complete flow over the Horseshoe Falls after the American side is entirely dry.

This conclusion of Ontario Province now receives from the Commissioners of Queen Victoria Niagara Park, a minimum annual rental of $50,000, for the water rights granted there, and when the plants for which these grants were made are in full operation, the rental would be $100,000. It is further asserted that additional water could be granted by the province which would produce an annual rental of another $500,000, and still not seriously affect the Canadian side of the Falls, while the American Falls would be entirely drained long before this enormous rental was reached.

Mr. Hall built small incubators at first, but the oil bill for forty of his small incubators, which he sold at a profit, was $150 for a season, while a large incubator was run three months at an expense of less than $5 for Joint Resolution in Congress For Their Preservation.

Proposal to Unite With Canada in an Effort to Stop Further Depredations Which Will Destroy the Scenic Grandeur.

At last the national lawmakers have come to a realizing sense of the danger which threatens Niagara Falls, the most beautiful of all the world's natural wonders. A bill introduced in the House of Representatives, and passed by a large majority, was introduced to the Senate by Senator Chauncey D. Smith, of New York, and passed by a large majority. The bill is a joint resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives, and is entitled "A Joint Resolution to Stop Further Depredations Which Will Destroy the Scenic Grandeur."

By a joint resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives, the House of Representatives, and the Senate, was introduced to the Senate by Senator Chauncey D. Smith, of New York, and passed by a large majority. The bill is a joint resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives, and is entitled "A Joint Resolution to Stop Further Depredations Which Will Destroy the Scenic Grandeur."

This commission previously reported that if any benefit was to be derived by legislation, immediate action was necessary and without a plan which it believed would have the desired effect, providing Canada would have with this government in curbing the greed of promoters and speculators.

The report says, in part: "As a step in that direction we recommend that legislation be enacted which shall contain the following provisions, viz: 'The Secretary of War to be authorized to grant permits for the diversion of 25,000 cubic feet of water per second, and no more, from the waters naturally tributary to Niagara Falls, except such as may be required for locks in navigation of canals.'"

It will be noted that unless the British government makes with this country in its effort to save the natural remedy for the evil which is being done, and one which is not dependent on Canadian cooperation. This remedy could be accomplished by New York State alone, and would be to so deepen the river channel south of Goat Island, between that island and the New York State bank, that the American Falls would divide with the Horseshoe falls, which would be diverted from its natural bed. The Twenty of about pieces the American boundaries at a point well out into the deep part of the river channel and affords ample opportunity to make necessary excavations.

THE AMERICAN FALLS, NIAGARA, N. Y. THE HORSESHOE FALLS, CANADA.

It is certainly to be regretted that the American people have so long waited until the Canadian Government has taken the initiative in the matter of the diversion of water from the falls, and have allowed any part of it to be converted to private gain or corporate greed.

MAMMOTH INCUBATOR.

A Hatching Machine That Does the Work of One Thousand Setting Hens.

The largest incubator in the world, with a capacity of 15,000 eggs, has just been completed by W. P. Hall of Penrose, N. Y. It is 102 feet long, and 4 feet high, with 10 partitions which divide it into ten compartments, each accommodating two trays. The trays have wire bottoms, and hold 75 eggs each. The incubator is a simple machine with common, not thoroughbred—eggs would require an expenditure of $5,000 for eggs of the quality of those which would cost fifty cents a dozen. As one hen covers fifteen eggs for a season, the incubator does the work of 1,000 hens, or, in the capacity of one hen sitting constantly for 100 days.

The incubator is heated by means of a coil of eight steam pipes passing over the top of the egg chamber on one side and returning on the other. These pipes are connected, at one end to the water pipes of the heating system, and at the other to the boiler. The water flowing through the pipes is heated to exactly the right temperature, a thermostat, attached to the stove opening and discharging the drafts to make this possible. The only attention required by the heater is to keep the water in the tank filled with oil, in which is a float. As the heat of the furnace warms the water, the float rises, and the water flows into the oil tank, and the float in the oil rises. The water flowing through the pipes is heated to exactly the right temperature, a thermostat, attached to the stove opening and discharging the drafts to make this possible.

A second novel feature is that the heat of the eggs is regulated by raising or lowering them in the egg chamber, which is nearly a foot high in the middle, rising up to the top of the furnace. In this way the temperature is regulated automatically, the water rising to the level of the eggs being kept at 102 degrees F. MISS HELEN CANNON.

DAUGHTER OF THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

In official life than any other member of her sex, yet never so much as once has she let her tongue slip when "mum" was the word, and this is more than can be said of some of our exalted position.

Morover, Speaker Cannon's confidence in his daughter's discretion and common sense is shared by the leaders in the lower house of Congress who have occasion to confer frequently with the presiding officer. Many of these confidential confabs are held at the unpretentious vine-covered brick house which constitutes Speaker Cannon's Washington home, and many times a newcomer at such a conference has been surprised to see the wheel barrow of our national legislature freely telling state secrets before the hostess.

Jays of Good Cooking.

Incidentally it may be noted that Miss Cannon is largely responsible for so many of these political star chamber sessions being held at the Cannon residence instead of in the Speaker's private office at the Capitol or somewhere else. Few readers of this need be told that the average man sent great store by good cooking, and the popularity won by Senator Hanna's famous "hash breakfasts" goes to prove that the President and other high officials of the nation are no exception to the masculine rule.

Well, just here one has a hint as to the magnet which helps to draw many men of affairs to the Speaker's home instead of to his office. Miss Cannon is a splendid housekeeper, and is an expert in preparing or superintending the preparation of those plain, wholesome dishes which never fail to make a hit with men who are weary of hotel cooking. In things to eat, as in dress, Speaker Cannon does not go in for much in the way of "frills," but no man who knows what is in store for him ever declines an invitation to dine at his house.

URGES EASY SPELLING.

Supreme Court Justice Joins With Other Well-Known Men—Carnegie Gives Fund to Aid Cause.

Associate Justice David J. Brewer of the United States Supreme Court is deeply interested in the adoption of a scientific regulation of English spelling.

Justice Brewer is a member of the board of which Brander Mathews, of New York, is chairman. About 750 have agreed to adopt for customary use in their own personal correspondence the following twelve simplified spellings, heretofore recommended and used by the National Educational Society, namely, program, catalog, decalog, prolog, demagog, pedagog, the, also, thore, thorefare, thri and thriest.

In May and June, 1905, many distinguished scholars, literary men, and scientists signed the promise, and now the committee has been permanently organized, under the name of the Simplified Spelling Board. Funds adequate for the purpose have been given by Andrew Carnegie, the justice thinks, to the amount of $15,000, the income of which is to be devoted to the interests of the organization.

Among the members of the board are B. Benjamin Andrews, chancellor of the University of Nebraska; David J. Brewer, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States; Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University; Andrew Carnegie, Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), Thomas Wentworth Higginson, William Dean Howells, Prof. Lowmeyer of Yale, Prof. James of Harvard, Benjamin E. Smith, editor of the Century Magazine, W. H. Ward, editor of the Independent, and Andrew C. White.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETING A SUCCESS.

The Breckenridge Fifth Sunday meeting that met with Goshen Glendene Baptist Church, was in many ways a success. Considering the busy time with the farmers, the church hood was fairly represented at the sessions.

The speakers appointed presented their subjects with credit to themselves and honor to the cause.

The visitors were delightfully entertained in the homes of the people.
Some of you know what that means.

Saturday dinner was provided for all
"on the grounds". It was all that could be expected, even from Glendene people. There was a wonderful sufficiency, but don't think many fragments were left from the basket but let it, would not be worth mentioning.

I don't mean to make the impression that anything was wasted, indeed, it was taken up, but not in baskets.

Dr. W. O. Harvey, of the Western Recorder, was with us on Sunday and gave a splendid address. The pastors, D. E. Chapp and largely to the an-noies and pleasure of the occasion by his presence at every session of the meeting and royal welcome to all.

We are very sorry that the members of the Mission Board do not come out to these meetings and attend to the Lord's work put in their bin's by the association. It stands as all in need to work "while it is day". This session of our Fifth Sunday meeting was closed on Sunday evening after it was dark, with an address by Bro. John Wichell.

The next meeting will be with the Cloverport Baptist church. We are looking for a very large delegation from Glendene. I have asked Rev.
E. B. English of the N. B. Seminary to be here on time and help the pastor receive them.

Bro. Editor, you asked me to write some on the above subject. Now, I want to write some more.

Through the kindness of some of our Cloverport friends I was enabled to take my wife and our baby boy out to the country in a buggy formally by Bro. John E. Keith, pulled by a gold horse provided by Bro.
Ksem Pate. And now we did enjoy this with the splendid country opportunity. Our other two babies, though the said kindness, we left behind. For all this we are truly grateful.

A RELIABLE MEDICINE.

An Opinion That Should Be of Interest to Every Person in Cloverport.

So many patent medicines and advertised cures are now offered to the public that our readers should be glad to know the opinion of men who have spent years in handling them and profit by their advice.

A member of the firm of Short and Haynes, our local druggists, say:
"After having sold drugs, and all kinds and makes of medicines for so many years, naturally we have learned something about them—their value and power to cure, and we want to say to our readers of the News that if the people of Cloverport really realized the real curative and strength-creating power of our old liver oil preparation, Vinol, we would not have a clerk enough in our store to fill the demand for it."

Continued be, "You see, Vinol is not a patent medicine, and it actually contains all the life-giving, body-building, and strength-creating properties of our old liver oil actually taken from fresh cods!" Here is a witness to the drop of the system, giving nourishing oil. Vinol makes rich, red blood, and tones up and invigorates
every organ in the body.

"In the strongest manner we unhesitatingly endorse and guarantee Vinol
to increase the appetite, cure stomach troubles, give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, build up puny children and run down persons, make the weak strong, cure chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis or retard to the purchaser every dollar paid for it."

"This shows our faith in Vinol and we can only urge the people of Cloverport to try Vinol on our guarantee."

Keep the Balance Up.
It has been truthfully said that any disturbance of the even balance of health causes serious trouble. No body can be too careful to keep this balance up. When people begin to lose appetite, or to get tired easily, the least imprudence brings on sickness, weakness, or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it, and should not be denied it; and the best tonic of which we have any knowledge is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What the doctor has done in keeping healthy people healthy, in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a pre-ventive that it enjoys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that a little in time saves nine. That Hood's for appetite, strength, and endurance. Adv.

Jeffersonian Democracy.

By Gov. Folk.

The life and teachings of Thomas Jefferson are an inspiration to the lovers of representative government everywhere. Jeffersonian Democracy means the rule of the people, not of any class nor of any clique, nor of any special interests. Whenever the people came to rule anywhere and gauge and losses govern themselves, the people are the rule of the people, not of any class nor of any clique, nor of any special interests. Whenever the people came to rule anywhere and gauge and losses govern themselves, the people are the rule of the people, not of any class nor of any clique, nor of any special interests.

The majority of people believe that the mole is even "blinder" than the proverbial bat, but the naturalist knows that such is not the case. John Lubbock and Carl Hens, the latter a noted German naturalist, by careful investigation proved that the mole has eyes which are as perfect as those of a horse or an elephant. They are very small eyes, to be sure, only one millimeter in diameter, but in the matter of reflection and refraction do not differ from the normal eye in larger animals.

will no longer respond to mere party names. Parties must stand for something and mean something, must be a positive force, not a mere negative quantity. Whatever may be said of the accomplishment of any party in days gone by, the question is now, not what the Democratic party did fifty years ago or what the Republican party did forty years ago, but what they stand for now, and what they propose to do now. The way to determine this is not merely of reading platforms, but of finding out what the candidates represent, whether they are honest and courageous, and whether they are supported or fought by special privileges and the lawless element. It is a very good rule to follow, to ascertain on which side the enemies of the people and of representative government are fighting, and then get on the other side and oppose them. One may rest assured that he cannot be far from right.

A HISTORIC TRAGEDY

EXECUTION OF JOSEPH LESQUERUES AND ITS SAD SEQUEL.

The Famous Legend of "The Execution in France upon Which the Popular Melodrama 'The Lyons Mail' is Based.

The tragedy of the execution of Joseph Lesquerues, an innocent man, who was hanged by the guillotine in 1840, is a story of the machinery of France in the eighteenth century is an incident rarely met with in history.

Although Lesquerues was executed as far back as 1790, though his innocence was established in 1801, though his property was restored to the family in 1824, the corps legislatif, after the family had tried for over half a century to have his memory judicially rehabilitated, definitely refused in 1860 to perform this last remaining act of justice. The story of French law forbade the questioning of a jury's verdict by any one save the party directly interested. But though the law has failed to remove the stigma on the name of an innocent man, literature and the drama have made him a popular hero in "The Lyons Mail," in which the story of Lesquerues is told with honor is thoroughly vindicated, has been one of the most popular of all French melodramas, and the combined genius of Charles Reade and of Henry Irving made it one of the great successes of the modern English stage.

Their Lesquerues, who, when he was published on the scaffold, was but thirty-three years of age, was a good husband, a good father and a good citizen. He married in 1790 Mlle. Campion, a lady of respectable family in Douai and possessed of a handsome dowry. Their children, therefore, were young, and it was in order to provide for the benefit of a superior education that he relinquished a public appointment at Douai and came to Paris, there to live on his own private fortune, which amounted to about 7,500 francs a year. He had but just arrived in the capital and was superintending the furnishing of his new home when the thunderbolt fell.

On April 27, 1790, the mail coach between Lyons and Paris was attacked and plundered, and the postilion and courier were murdered. There were no witnesses to the crime, but it was reported that a party of horsemen had been seen in the vicinity at about the time the mail was attacked. The next day the mail was reported to have been taken down at an inn at Montgeron. One of Lesquerues' friends named Ginet was arrested on suspicion, and his private papers were seized. There was no evidence to connect him on except that he answered the description of one of the supposed murderers, and he was dismissed. Next day he was told to call for his papers at the central bureau. He was accompanied thither by Lesquerues, an act of madness on the part of the latter had been entirely forgotten.

It happened that just at that time the judge was taking the depositions of witnesses who lived in the neighborhood of the scene of the crime. Among these were two underlings of Montgeron, who uttered simultaneous screams at the appearance of the two friends. They were put into the witness box and sworn positively that two of the horsemen were present in the audience. When confronted with Lesquerues and Ginet they positively identified them. Hence, without further delay, they were taken to the guillotine and thrown into prison. At the trial four other witnesses corroborated their testimony with equal emphasis as required. The jury, however, was not satisfied with the evidence, and the case was referred to the court of appeal. The latter established a satisfactory alibi and was released. The former's attempted alibi seemed to be broken down, and when the day of the execution came, he was executed, together with one of the other witnesses, named Couriol, who on mounting the scaffold confessed his own guilt, but declared the innocence of Lesquerues. Doubts began to arise as to the justice of Lesquerues' sentence, and finally it was discovered that he had suffered through extraordinary resemblance to one of the other witnesses. The case was referred to the court of appeal, and finally it was discovered that he had suffered through extraordinary resemblance to one of the other witnesses. The case was referred to the court of appeal, and finally it was discovered that he had suffered through extraordinary resemblance to one of the other witnesses.

It is curious that one of the witnesses against Lesquerues, the woman Alix, also went insane. She was removed at her own request to a lunatic asylum. The children were as yet too young to understand their trouble, but as they grew up they thought alone possessed them, that of vindicting their dead father. It is easy to understand how brooding over this purpose drove one daughter to the madhouse, which her mother had been confined.

THE WEIGHT OF GOLD

HOW MUCH OF THE PRECIOUS METAL CAN A MAN CARRY?

Strange Follies of Many of the Famous Men of World History About the Handling of Gold That Are Perpetrated in Works of Fiction.

One of the peculiarities of civilization is that by the use of new methods we lose sight of well known facts that were once as familiar in men's minds as the alphabet. The gold of the world is represented universally by bank notes and checks, but the majority of living Californians remember the days before the resumption of specie payment when legal tender was not current money on the Pacific slope and nothing went save gold eagles, double eagles and half eagles. When the Bank of California opened its doors of a morning, it displayed the sight of the official weighing trays of gold coin from the safe to tables in the rear of the counter. Each tray held 10,000, and the weight of the gold was thirty-one pounds four ounces. Sometimes an official would carry two trays, and there were strong clerks who could carry three trays, but on their heads, there was no one who would carry more than two trays. Therefore, are exceptions to the curious fact that the world at large has begun to confound gold and money, and this confusion has led to blackening a Roman prince's story. They demand 100,000 lire about $20,000, which she is to bring in her carriage and deliver to the man who will be waiting steadily along the Appian way, and who will wear certain sign giving things supplementary to the usual best clothes of common artisans and blacksmiths.

A conspicuous error of this kind will be found in Marion Crawford's story, "The Heart of Rome," where two men, who are walking steadily along the Appian way, and who will wear certain sign giving things supplementary to the usual best clothes of common artisans and blacksmiths. They demand 100,000 lire about $20,000, which she is to bring in her carriage and deliver to the man who will be waiting steadily along the Appian way, and who will wear certain sign giving things supplementary to the usual best clothes of common artisans and blacksmiths.

It is quite possible that the hardy miners who go to the Klondike do not know whether it excavates its burrow or builds in a natural cavity. Nothing more comical can be imagined than the head of this creature, with its long, sharp, curved, orange, grey and colored beak, appearing from a hollow in the trunk of some forest monarch. It is said that the young birds are subjected to a course of monotonous and birds of prey and that when the parent bird is alarmed all she has to do is to poke her head out of the aperture leading to the nest. The assistant, however, is not so easily deceived. An animal of corresponding size behind it and leaves without bowing or saying farewell.

The toucans are sociable birds and go in large flocks. They make common cause against their enemies, such as owls and falcons, which they surround and mob, as the rocks in England. They are noisy and clamorous, like parrots and monkeys.

The plumage is generally black, but the throat is white tinged with yellow and commonly edged beneath with red. The tail is nearly square or moderately rounded, with the upper feathers red tinged with yellow. The under feathers are brighter colors are displayed in the feathers of the throat, the breast and the tail.

The bird is kept easily in confinement. Some of its brilliant traits are very fleeting, and they often leave little or no trace after death, so that the idea of its beauty can be obtained from a studied specimen.

Origin of Hobson's Choice. The famous story of the famous carrier of Cambridge, who was born about 1544 and lived to his eighty-fifth year. He traveled regularly for a long period of years, and he was the university town and the Bull, Bishopgate, carrying passengers as well as packages. It is said that he was the first person in the world who let horses for hire, and it was out of the regularity of his mode of dealing with the animals that the proverbial remark arose. Every horse he lent out in its turn, and if from any cause a customer objected or wished a change made Hobson would curdly decide. Hobson's choice—the choice of none." By steady attention to business the Cambridge carrier became rich and many other gifts he is known to have made. He was the site for the Spinning house, used by the university authorities for the incarceration of disreputable women. During the plague he was the site for the Cambridge and the metropolis were stopped, and his death came soon after, on Jan. 1, 1630. Milton honored him by writing two elegies on his death, and his death would never have hit him had he continued doing it backward and forward between Cambridge and the Bull.

saved his life and afterward sold the emerald for a big sum when the conquest was achieved. But, as he relates and Prescott writes, there was a man who actually took 3,000 ounces, weighing 187 pounds 8 ounces, and carried it through the terrible night and day of the sorrowful night and the next day said to Cortes: "General, what shall I do with this gold? I cannot carry it any farther." "Pling it to the devil," said Cortes. "If you like you may get more gold, but if you love your life you will not get another one." So he threw it down and marched with the Spaniards toward the Pacific all around the lake to the friendly Tlascalans.

It is certain that the man could not have carried more than a thousand ounces, weighing 62 pounds 8 ounces, through the stress and storm of that night's fighting. The old captain wrote his book long afterward, but his mind was clear and his memory excellent, and the fault must have been with the proofreaders, who have always made mistakes. But that does not detract from the story, who ought to have known that the thing was incredible. The most extraordinary error of this kind ever made is to be found in the "Hundred Years' War" by Henry James. There the statement is made gravely that a man carried 130,000 in gold, a little trifle of nearly 150,000, weighing 400 pounds 12 ounces, and that for a long distance, including a railroad trip. It is obvious that with this writer the confusion of gold and money was complete. One of the consequences of the ever increasing volume of fiction magazines is that the quality of the writing is steadily declining, especially in English periodicals. What is more, certain subjects supposed to be interesting are attempted by men who know nothing of the wild life of the regions, and their imagination cannot take them out of the environment of their daily life in congested cities—London, New York, and Washington.

THE TOUCAN. Queer South American Bird With an Extremely Large Bill. A queer kind is the toucan. It seems to have been made expressly to take charge of its huge banana shaped beak, which in some species is fully seven inches in length and more than seven inches in width. It is entirely out of proportion to its comparatively small body. This beak is the most brilliant possession of the toucan, being orange and black, scarlet and yellow or green and red, according to the species of the bird.

Its home is in the wild South American woods, where, mingled with the screaming of parrots, macaws and other tropical birds, is heard its monotonous cry, "Tucano, tucano," from which its name is probably derived. It is a fruit eater, and, climbing among the branches, it gathers its food with its long beak, whose strength no stem can resist.

The toucan nests in trees, and it is not whether it excavates its burrow or builds in a natural cavity. Nothing more comical can be imagined than the head of this creature, with its long, sharp, curved, orange, grey and colored beak, appearing from a hollow in the trunk of some forest monarch. It is said that the young birds are subjected to a course of monotonous and birds of prey and that when the parent bird is alarmed all she has to do is to poke her head out of the aperture leading to the nest. ### BUY ROAD

MATERIAL.

Hardinsburg, Ky., May 1—The overseers and road hands will be gratified to know that the county has purchased for their use a large quantity of materials for roads.

The purchase was made by the county Judge, the Supervisor and the Road Committee of the Fiscal court. Sealed bids were made by Pete Shoran Bro. & Co., B. F. Beard & Co., G. D. Shellman and Hook, DeHaven & Co.

B. F. Beard & Co. received the contract. In making their estimate they based it upon 150 lbs of dynamite instead of 1800 pounds, but making the amount of dynamite equal 1244 the bids, all the other firms agreed that they and made the lowest bid and were entitled to the order. Before the bids were opened, each one agreed that no mistake were to be corrected, but the successful bid will be presented to the Fiscal Court, with recommendation by the committee that the correction be made by it. The firms bidding represented three wholesale houses in St. Louis and Louisville considering the high grade of the materials, this is the cheapest lot of tools etc., purchased by any person other than a merchant. The bill cost the county about 40 less than would have been the case had the materials been purchased by wholesale, and by reason of the fact that they are to be delivered here, it gives the road officials opportunity to procure a receipt for all materials and tools furnished each overseer.

A road grader has been purchased for the use of Hardinsburg Magisterial district. The price paid was $900.
